New depot fire station construction begins; supports demil site

PUEBLO CHEMICAL DEPOT, Colo.—Construction work has begun on a new single company fire station at Pueblo Chemical Depot to support the Pueblo Chemical Agent-Destruction Pilot Plant (PCAPP).

The almost $1.5 Million contract for the 7,000 sq. ft. facility was awarded in September by the U.S. Army Fort Carson Contracting Office to Komada LLC, Colorado Springs, Colo.

The North Fire Station is required to meet rapid response time to the facility and will have three vehicle bays supporting seven fireman for 24/7 operations.

The project is scheduled to be completed in nine months.
